IN THE SENATE.

COMPLETELY CHANGED FOR THE GREAT OCCASION.

Impressive Scenes as Stevenson Makes His Farewell and Hobart His First Address.

Washington, March 4.—At 8 n. m., the time to which the recome was taken, the son was shining in a cloudless sky, giving amurance of splendid weather for the inauguration. Admit-tance to the north wing of the capital weather for the inauguration Admittance to the north wing of the capital was only obtained through the presentation at one of the outer doors of a card entitling the bearer to entrance and as those cards were restricted to be weather the north wing of the restricted to be weather the north wing the bearer to entrance and as those cards were restricted to be weather the north of the predicts.

The senate wing, very few could avail themselves of that privilege.

The senate chamber had been completely metamorphosed during the three hours of recess. The heavy, dark red moroco covered chairs of the senate had been replaced by three or four times the same number of small chairs some cane-hottomed.

Pincel ciosely together, and filling all the angles of the room, on one side of the green to the part in the ceremonies of the day. Every spectator was excluded from the galleries while the finishing touches were being given to the arringulation of the Boor. The recess was extended, if not by comean, at least by the non-appearance of any senators, from 8 to 8:30.

At that time, Senator Carter (Silvet Mont), book the chair as pressiling of ficer, called the senate to order and then senate took another recess with a fine chair as pressiling of ficer, called the senate to order and then senate took another recess was extended. If not be compared to the senate took another recess was extended to senate to order and then the senate took another recess was sexually as a m. When this action was the first of the last time, I may be partioned for detailing you a moment, in the last time, I may be partioned for detailing you a moment, in the last time, I may be partioned for detailing you a moment, in the last time, I may be partioned for detailing you a moment, in the last time, I may be partioned for detailing you a moment, in the last time, I may be partioned for detailing you a moment in the last time, I may be partioned for detailing you a moment in the last time, I may be partioned for detailing you as moment in the last time,

When the senate really did reconmoteoritationally made his exit through the certifore.

TOURS OF Moviers, the grandmarshall of the paradic, followed close child the army hand of dozen-city and many hand of dozen-city could be derived a six and many hand of dozen-city could be derived a six and many hand of dozen-city could be derived a six and many hand of dozen-city could be derived a six and many hand of dozen-city could be derived and the could be derived and six and many hand of dozen-city could be derived and six and many the could be derived and dozen-city could fortune has bestowed upon me I count that of having known something of the friendship—of the men with whom I have so long held official relations in this chamber. That I have been the presiding officer of the august body is an honor of which even the most illustrious cilizen might be proud. I am persuaded that no occupant of this chair, during the 105 years of our constitutional history, ever entered upon the discharge of the duties pertaining to this office more deeply impressed with a sense of the responsibilities imposed or with a higher appreciation of the character and dignity of the executive assembly.

During the term just closing questions of deep import to all political parties and to the country have here found earnest and at times passionate discussion. This chamber has indeed been the arena of great debate. The record of four years of paritiamentary struggles of masterful debates, of important legislation, is closed, and passes now to the domain of history.

I think I can truly say, in the words of a distinguished prederessor. 'In the discharge of my official duties I have known no cause, no party, no friend.'

It has been my earnest endeavor to interpret and faithfully to execute the rules of, the senate. At times the temptation may be strong to compass partisan ends by a disregard or perversion of the rules, yet, I think it safe to easy the result, however salutary, will be dearly purchased by a departure from the methods prescribed by the senate for his guidance. A single instance as indicated might prove the forerunner of untold evils. "Twill be recovided for a precedent, and many an error by the same example will rush into the state."

It must not be forsotten that the rules governing this body are founded deep in human experience; that they are the rights and liberties which have been achieved by conflict. By its rules the senate of centuries of troless effort in legislative halls to conserve, to render stable and secure, the rights and liberties which have been achieved by conflict. By its ru we which cannot be measured by words.

The senate is a perpetual body. In the terse words of an eminent senator now present. The men who framed the constitution had studied thoroughly all former attempts at republican government. History was stream with the wrecks of unsuccessful democracies. Some times the usurpation of the executive power, sometimes the fickieness and unbridded license of the people had brought popular governments to destruction. To guard against those dangers, they placed their chief hope in the senate. * * * The senate, which was organized in 1758, at the inauguration of the government, abides and wil icontinue to abide one and the same body 'until the republic itself shall be overthrown, or time shall be no more."

Senators. Senators.

Senators—To have been elected to preside over the senate of the United States is a distinction which any citizen would prize, and the manifestation of confidence which it implies is an henor which I sincerety appreciate.

My gratitude and loyalty to the the people of the country whom I owe this honor, and my duty to you as well demands a conservative, equitable and conscientious construction and enforcement of yourrules as shall promote the well-being and prespective of the people and at the same time I shall conserve the time-honored precedents and established traditions which have contributed to make this tribumal the most distinguished of the legislative bodies of the world. In entering upon the duties of the office to which I have been chosen, I feel a peculiar delicacy, for I am aware that your body with whom, for a time, I will be associated, has had but a small voke in the solection of its presiding officer, and that I am called upon to conduct your choice in point of either merit of times.

It will be my constant effort to aid you, so far as I may, In all reason—your choice in point of either merit or finess.

It will be my constant effort to aid you, so far as I may, in all reasonable expedition of the business of the scuate, and I may be permitted to express the belief that such expedition is the hope of the country. All the interests of good government and the advancement toward a higher and better condition of things call for prompt and positive legislation at your hands. To obstruct the regular course of wise and prudent legislative action after the fallest and freest discussion is neither consistent with true senatorial couriesy, conductive to the wefare of the people nor in compliance with their just expectations. While assisting in the settlement of the grave questions which devolve upon the senate of the United States it will be my endeavor to so guide its deliberations that its wisdom may be fruitful in works.

Unfamilian with your rules and manner of procedure. I can only promise that I will bring all the ability I powers to the faithful discharge of very duty as it may devolve upon me relying always upon your suggestions, your advice and your co-operation, and I should feel unequal to the task did I not trustfully anticipate that indulgent aid and consideration that you have at all times given to my predecessors and without which I could not hope to acquit myself to your satisfaction or with any degree of personal consideration.

It shall be my highest aim to justify the confidence the people have reposed in me by discharging my duties in such a manrer as to lighten your labors, secure your appreciation of my honest effort to administer your rules with an eye single to the public good and promote the pleasant and efficient transactions of the public business. I trust that our official and personal relations may be getuine and lasting, and that the work of the senate may redound to the peace and honor of the country and the prosperity and happiness of all the people.

SENATORS SWORN IN,

SENATORS SWORN IN.

Then President Cleveland's procla-mation, convening the senate in session for the 4th of March, was read, and the vice-president called upon the newly-elected members to come forward and he sworn.

Mr. Morrill (Rep., Vt.) had the distinction conferred upon him, on account of his age and long service, of being sworn first and alone at the clerk's desk-the oath being administered by Vice-President Hobart.

All the newly-elected senators who were present, as well as the old ones, were then sworn in batches of four at a time, and subscribed the oath of office.

It was 1:15 when the floor of the senate chamber was once more deserted, and then the spectators in the galler-les were permitted to join in the pro-

IN THE HOUSE.

SPEAKER REED COMPLIMENTED BY THE MEMBERS.

The President Having No Communication to Make the Body is Adjourned Sine Die.

Washington, March 4.-When the house was called to order at 8:30 a. m., but two members, Messrs, Dalzell

FASHIONS AS THEY ARE DECREED BY

Europe's Most Noted Authorities.

The Sunday Herald

Will present to its readers a series of Carefully Illustrated Articles accurately describing

THE COMING STYLES IN WOMEN'S GOWNS

As designed and modeled by EUROPE'S FOURTEEN MASTERS OF FASHION.

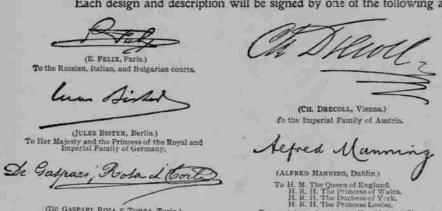

Will be the First Authentic Descriptions Ever Presented in this Country in Advance of Their Publication Abroad.

The Court Modelers of Europe, such as Felix, Drecoll, Worth, etc., have always carefully guarded their new designs until their regular openings, May 8 and Sept. 8, consequently, as the American season opens earlier than that abroad, it has always been necessary to ADOPT THEIR PREVIOUS SEASON'S STYLES. Descriptions of new gowns heretofore printed in American publications have been mere guesswork and generally

Arrangements have now been made with the Court Modelers by which

THE SUNDAY HER

Will print exclusively in Salt Lake City and Utah, each week, advanced designs of the creations of these masters. Thus the public will be informed of the styles four months earlier than ever before. Each design and description will be signed by one of the following authorities of style:

(DE GASPARI, ROSA E TORTA, Turin.)

The state of the s EMILIA BOSSI.

Of. A. VOGELS, The Harme.)

St. Petersburg. The Duchess of Lenchtenberg to the Downger Empress inaccurate.

members reached the White House the president had already departed for the capitol.

Mr. Bingham (Bep. Pa.), withdrew his demand for a separate vote on the amendments, and at 11:30 Mr. Cannon's motion to further disagree and consent to a conference was acreed to amidst some laughter over the gross improbability of anythin being accomplished. At 11:45 Mr. Payne, speaker pro tem, called Mr. Deckery (Dem. Mo.) to the chair and his appearance there was greeted with applause by Republican members. The floor was filled with representatives and for the first time this week there was intense voluntary quiet as Mr. McMillan (Dem. Tem.) arose to introduce a resolution of thanks to Speaker Reed for the courtery, fidelty and longaritality with which he had presided over the deliberations of the house. The resolution read:

"Resolved. That the thanks of the house of representatives are presented to the Hon. Thomas B. Reed, speaker, for the able, impartial and dismined manner in which he presided over the deliberations of the house and performed the arduous and important during the mean of the McKinley party in deliberations of the house and performed the arduous and important during the present term of congress."

On motion of Mr. Livingston (Dem. Ga.), it was decided by a rising votation of the chair during the present term of congress."

On motion of Mr. Livingston (Dem. Ga.), it was decided by a rising votation of the vote was announced by Speaker, for tem lookery and applause on all sides.

Speaker Reed was sumoned from his room, and as he came in the door, and has McKinley and a pleasant word to each of these ind had bidden Mrs. McKinley and and and and had bidden Mrs. McKinley and are presented to the chair during the present term of congress."

Sally at Odds Over the Senatorial Question in Kentucky.

MRS. CLEVELAND WARMLY RE. CHIVEN A Question in Kentucky.

Then Leaves the Home Which She Home Which She Has Brightened With Her Pressure one For So Many Years, with There is a distributed by the Her Beautiful Eyes.

Washington, D. C., March 4—it was being to be the Counsered Thomes and the Counser Thomes and the Counser Thomes and the Counsered Thomes and the Counser Thome